College Career Exploration: Best Practices
National Council on Workforce and Disability/Youth: Career Exploration

Career exploration activities are experiences at school and in the community that help young people to:

(a) identify how their interests, values, and skills relate to careers of interest;

(b) describe the skills and activities associated with those careers; and,

(c) identify the post-secondary training, two-year, four-year, or graduate degree programs needed to successfully pursue those careers.
National Council on Workforce and Disability/Youth: Career Exploration

• Youth who have participated in career exploration and other transition services in a quality learning environment have higher career search self-efficacy

• Youth with greater career search self-efficacy are more highly engaged in goal setting

• Youth more highly engaged in goal setting are more motivated to attend school and have higher academic self-efficacy.

So, what are quality learning environments, with respect to career exploration? The Guideposts for Success tell us...
Guideposts for Success: Career Preparation

NCWD/Youth has developed the Guideposts for Success to assist with a successful transition process for youth with disabilities. The 2nd Guidepost addresses career preparation:

All youth need information on career options, including:

- Career assessments to help identify students’ school and post-school preferences and interests
- Structured exposure to post-secondary education and other life-long learning opportunities

In addition, youth with disabilities also need to:

• Understand the relationships between benefits planning and career choices;

• Learn to communicate their disability-related work support and accommodation needs; and,

• Learn to find, formally request and secure appropriate supports and reasonable accommodations in education, training and employment settings.
OPC: Pre-college Career Exploration

OPC is funded by the Office of Disability Employment Policy, U.S. Department of Labor Award No. OD-26453-14-75-4-36.
Pre- College Career Exploration

• High School Outreach to Inclusive & Special Education Classrooms

• OPC Scholars Program

• Individualized Career Exploration with Students and Families
Career Exploration with High School Students

• Used with both inclusive and special education classes to increase occupational literacy

• Career & Personality Inventories (MBTI, Holland Codes)

• Utilizing OPC Peer Mentors

• Assists students in evaluating readiness for their desired career

Career Assessments

- Career Assessments are often a great to use in decision-making because they offer insight into your interests, needs and values as the relate to careers or majors. However, they are not psychic predicts and will not tell you what you should do for the rest of your life.

- Within the first year of programming
  - Holland’s Personality Assessment - Classifies jobs into job categories, interest clusters, or work personality environments.
Career Exploration Resources

You’ll learn more about the particular careers that interest you including the requirements to pursue each career, what it would be like to work in the career, and what steps you’ll need to take to prepare for career success. Everything you learn will help you make informed decisions about your goals and plans for the future.

Career Exploration Resources:

- Mynextmove.org (O*Net) – is a web-based interactive tool used for career exploration

- Big Future by The College Board (Major and Career Search) – is a web-based interactive used for college planning and career exploration/planning

- Career Coach – is a recognized online tool which takes some of the uncertainty out of choosing a career and a major. Users can access the latest data on area jobs, salaries and employment trends as well as find links to OCC programs.

Work-based Learning

Work-based learning provides students with real-life work experiences where they can apply academic and technical skills and develop employability skills.

Types of Work-Based Learning includes:

- Internship
- Job Shadowing
- Volunteering
- Service Learning
- Site Visit
Ways We Engage Students in Career Development

Provide multiple opportunities to build and practice skills in all three career development domains:

- One-on-One (Advising/Counseling)
- Group (In class, learning communities, workshops, seminars)
  - Topics: Soft skills, career-specific skills, job search skills, effective interviewing, resume/cover letter writing, salary negotiation and effective networking.
- Work-based learning
- Creating goals (Action Plan) is a promising strategy for career development skill building
Goal Setting: Action Plan

- Action Plan model focuses on the whole person; based on the positive youth development approach Similar to an Individualized Education Program (IEP)
- Develop a supportive relationship with students by discussing their strengths, needs, and goals.
- Facilitates skill building in self exploration, career exploration, and career planning and management

Action Plan can include:
- Focus on academic goals/courses
- Include career goals and preparation
- Include other personal goals and support

Other members: How do you align youth with your career pathways via career exploration?
Kentucky: Project CASE “Creating Access to Successful Employment”

- Project CASE’s six Career Pathway Coordinators will increase the capacity of Kentucky’s Office of Vocational Rehabilitation and Office for the Blind in reaching employers who can provide work experiences such as job shadowing, internships, apprenticeships and, ultimately, job placement in these pathways:

- Targeted sectors of Information Technology, Manufacturing and Industrial Technology, and Healthcare/Nursing & Allied Health

- The grant will provide direct services to individuals in the 7 counties of Metro Louisville (KentuckianaWorks) and more rural 23 counties of Eastern Kentucky (Eastern Kentucky Concentrated Employment Program- EKCEP).
Virginia: Career Pathways for Individuals with Disabilities

• Led by the Virginia Department for Aging and Rehabilitative Services and the Virginia Department for the Blind and Vision Impaired, this grant will help nearly 500 Virginians with disabilities, including young adults and veterans, gain new skills and credentials through Career Pathways to seek employment in competitive, high-demand, high-quality occupations.

• CPID targets Virginia's high-growth industry sectors, identifies advanced credentials and provides work-based training programs. Industries include modern manufacturing, logistics and information technology. Other industries may be added within the next five years.
Nebraska: Career Pathways Advancement Project

• Focused outreach to 1,200 successfully employed Nebraska VR clients from the last three years seeks to upskill/backfill positions within the high demand industries of Information Technology (IT), Manufacturing and Transportation, and Distribution and Logistics (TDL).

• Nebraska VR's vision is to promote autonomy, stability, and economic self-sufficiency, achieved by assistance to obtain a single, stable, well-paying job with benefits to replace the one (or more) entry-level jobs currently held to make ends meet.

• Charts that map out career options to progress in a pathway – see example next slide...

Pellissippi State Community College

• The Universal Pathways to Employment Project (UPEP) expands the College’s capacity to deliver integrated education and career training to students with disabilities. UPEP supports students with disabilities and helps them in obtaining an Associate of Applied Science (AAS) degree, internship opportunities and career field employment.

• The UPEP Program provides participants with individual career plans, interviewing and job search training, academic and career coaching, internship placement assistance and persistence scholarships.
Pellissippi State Community College

• Career Programs are for students planning to go directly into the workforce after earning an associate's degree. These programs are designed to provide the education and hands-on experience needed to be successful in a variety of fields. Many of the programs have concentrations that allow students to better tailor their degree to their interests.
